A NOTE FROM KEN

Every member of our community has the right to be safe and to live free from the fear of violence.

The key to our success is collaboration. More than twenty partner agencies are working together to provide life-changing, life-saving resources, in one place. One Safe Place and its partner agencies remain committed to innovative, effective solutions.

This report reflects our best efforts to prevent crime and violence in our neighborhoods, schools and homes. The work of many individuals, across multiple disciplines, is adding up to a significant collective impact. However, we continue to pursue new solutions to complex problems. As always, we are focused on addressing the intersection of domestic and community violence, improving outcomes for children and youth who are exposed to domestic violence, and improving services for survivors of near-fatal strangulation.

Thank you for your support and partnership. Together we will make a difference for countless individuals and make our community safer, for all of us.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Shetter
President & General Counsel
One Safe Place

GROWING HOPE*

Growing Hope teaches our children and youth foundational skills for self-compassion, self-regulation, setting boundaries and goal planning. After each session, each child takes home a connection activity to be conducted with a parent/guardian to apply newly learned skills outside of the classroom.

51

INDIVIDUAL COUNSELING*

Individual and/or Family Counseling provides children and families the skills and methods necessary to manage their emotions and navigate traumatic and stressful situations. Counseling promotes a higher level of self-esteem and self-confidence, can improve social skills, and works to ease the transition between stages of life.

IMAGINE NO VIOLENCE

This year's theme was: The Future Belongs to You. Students were invited to unleash their creativity in promoting a culture of non-violence, unity, and understanding. Their artwork focused on individual greatness, unique visions, and diverse experiences, fostering a stronger collective and a compassionate community.
